Tani Mills has dedicated her career to issues related to vocational, social, and economic justice. Tani has implemented and championed strategies that leveled the playing field of opportunity that lead to personal transformation and growth. As a senior executive with over two decades of experience running a social enterprise, thousands of individuals were connected to work, many for the first time, building their confidence, cultivating their self-efficacy, and instilling hope for a better future. An experienced Human Resources Executive, certified Life Skills Educator and Motivator-in-Chief, Tani has worked with individuals both locally and internationally to discuss the importance of personal/professional development and empowering others and using their platform to serve as a catalyst for change. In 2017, Tani started a new chapter as the Principal of Katalyst Executive Coaching with the sole purpose of elevating the human spirit through leadership coaching, inspiring potential, to evoke positive change. Its tagline is thought +inspiration+ partnership. In line with her coaching work, Tani is also a Support Center Navigator and is currently engaging with faith-based organizations in New Jersey. Tani holds a B.S. in Criminal Justice, M.A. in Psychology (Forensic). She is an Associate Certified Coach accredited by the International Coaching Federation, a Certified Everything DISC Facilitator as well as “The 5 Behaviors”: Team Development.

Joan Malin recently retired from her role as CEO of Planned Parenthood of New York City (PPNYC) after 17 years in the role. Ms. Malin came to PPNYC after four years as chief executive of the Bowery Resident’s Committee, Inc. (BRC)— a multi-service agency which provides over 20 social services and housing programs for adults with limited resources including the homeless, hungry, chemically dependent, psychiatrically disabled, persons with AIDS and the aged. Prior to BRC, Ms. Malin served in the New York City Department of Homeless Services for four years, first as Deputy Commissioner for Program Planning, then as Commissioner. Ms. Malin is a veteran of three New York City Mayoral administrations during which she has overseen delivery of home-care and protective services for adults, has managed the City’s senior centers and worked extensively to address the needs of the City’s homeless population. Ms. Malin holds a BA in Urban Studies from Case Western Reserve University and a Master of City Planning from the University of Pennsylvania.
